

Rec. Bonds OK'd By BG Comm.

BELLE GLADE — General ninth followed Commissioner J. H. Livingston, it's answer to a question about City Commission policy as "very unpredictable," Wednesday night, but a few actions later Commissioners lined up — unpredictably — to approve validating a $200,000 recreation bond issue.

Commissioners Eugene Ellis, J. Marvin Unwin, and Livingston got together to vote in favor of Unwin's motion to validate the bond issue without referendum, after Recreation Board Member Joe Friedheim appeared to request funds for several purposes.

The unusual spectacle of Ellis voting with the new Commissioners on a major issue came about following a discussion of the need for recreation funds and the fact that the source of the funds would be rebate money from the Florida Power & Light Company franchise.

Unwin moved validation of a bond issue in the amount of $200,000 with a fiscal agent to be contacted through advertising, and without referendum. Mayor Walter Ashley reiterated his stand against action on any bond issue without referendum.

Commissioners were reminded that the recreation bond issue in no way affects the present tax setup. Early discussions of the franchise agreement itself had brought out the fact that if the agreement were approved, funds would go toward recreation facilities and similar community betterment.

Attorney Joseph Farish, of West Palm Beach, who said he was representing a group of citizens of Belle Glade, brought forth their request for extending liquor hours from Belle Glade, Farish cited an estimated $4,500 loss in revenue weekly to Belle Glade, by workers staying away because the coast offers more attractions.

Livingston said he would be all for extending the hours later on Friday and Saturday, and there should be an emergency ordinance passed to that effect.

A verbal free-for-all threatened to develop when Ex-Commissioner H. O. Carlton questioned the source of the request for such an emergency ordinance. Livingston said (Continued on Page 8)

NEW BUILDING NEXT FOR CC?

PAHOKEE — With expansion of this city's accessibility to water and the increasing growth of the area, Pahokee Chamber of Commerce board of directors Monday night appeared to lean toward getting the C-C building program finally under way.

A majority of the directors present, in favor of finding a suitable location near the present office and putting up a building, perhaps with the aid of civic clubs who could use the building as a meeting place.

The BWP has for several years had a building fund which it has offered to turn over to the Chamber to help build a combined library-C-C and meeting place.

President F. S. Parrish presided over the meeting. Director Lewis Friend reported he had located a suitable site for the beverage company that wants to build a warehouse here.

Directors endorsed the Girl Scout reorganization, and its affiliation with the Palm Beach Girl Scout Council. At the request of a merchant member, Joseph Kahn, the Chamber will investigate the possibilities of express delivery. Merchants are now handicapped since truck-line deliveries are only made in this area three times per week.

Troop 28 Survives For 24 Hours

PAHOKEE — Troop 28 Boy Scouts spent the weekend at Fishing Creek where they conducted a "survival" hike as a test to give the scouts an indication as to how well they have learned basic Scout skills in their studies and work during the past year.

Accompanied by Scoutmaster Louis Mims, Ed Carver and Dean Cary, the troop left Pahokee in the troop bus for the camping site around 1 p.m. Saturday, the goal being to live entirely on the land for 24 hours.

A large box of food was taken along as a precaution should the land fail to give up sustenance. At Fishing Creek the group was divided into three foraging patrols, each including an adult leader. Freddy Hinson, Star Scout, was patrol leader of the fishing patrol, supplied only with fishing poles. Carroll Watson, another Star Scout, headed the swamp cabbage patrol which was equipped only with nets. The third patrol, a hunting group armed with slingshots and bows and arrows, was headed by Benny Baxter, patrol leader.

The first two patrols had excellent luck on their survival hike and a supper of fried perch and swamp cabbage was enjoyed by all. Fried catfish was the main dish for the late breakfast Sunday morning. Following breakfast the troop held an open air Sunday school and worship service, the topic being "How to Pray."

Florida Vegetable Sales, Inc., of which Clause is general manager, will handle a full line of leaf crops, celery, corn, potatoes, no beans, and started operations Tuesday with corn.

The Clause Company is the second new organization, with Clause as owner, in association with members of his family.

All operations of the two companies are at the S. M. Jones pre-cooling plant at Canal Point. Clause said. They will handle a mixed deal and plan to bring in vegetables from other areas later. Telephones will be Pa-hokee 7200 and 555, the general manager emphasized.

Fund Block For BG Armory

BELLE GLADE — Delay in the release of federal funds is blocking the construction of a new National Guard armory at Belle Glade and the aid of Florida congressmen to push the project.

The delay is caused by city and county authorities. City Commission Wednesday learned from the state adjutant general that federal budget directors in a review of approved projects have temporarily held their hands, marked for the local armory.

The armory project has been under consideration for some time, and city and county officials will help finance the new construction.

The County Commission this week authorized Chairman Paul Sundry to contact U.S. Senator George Smathers and Speaker Holland and Congressman Paul Donnelly to get the delegation to do what ever possible to expedite release of the federal money so that construction of the armory can get under way. Belle Glade City Commissioners also agreed to get in touch with the congressional group.

DON'T HURT OUR FISHING:

How will the flood control projects in Florida affect the fishing? Progress is progress, and it's all well and good to spend millions of dollars protecting our land from floods, but while we don't destroy our wildlife, the U. S. Army Engineers are in agreement with this thinking. In order to be sure their work on the Kissimmee and St. John's Rivers doesn't harm the fish and other wildlife, they asked the Fish and Wildlife Service to make a study — and recommendations. That's fine, but who pays? The Engineers answered that question this week by turning over $27,500 to Fish and Wildlife Service for the job.

SWEET TOOTH: Too much sugar can make you sick. And the sugar producers in this country have too much sugar. It's running out of their ears. Roughly, 60,000 tons of Florida produced surplus sugar in this country — some in Clewiston, Fellsmere and Savannah. Sugar quota agreements won't let it be sold.

We are required by treaty to import most of our sugar, and if we produce more than our quota we are stuck with it. After months of dickering and lobbying with the Government, the sugar folks were able to get some relief this past week. The U. S. Department of Agriculture is arranging to buy 18,000 tons of Florida produced sugar. Of course, they had to relieve other parts of the country too, so their total purchase will come to 100,000 tons. That includes beet sugar as well as cane. This sugar will be shipped to foreign markets and it won't help to sweeten our own coffee or tea.

Credit for working out this sugar deal must go to Congressman Paul Breaux, whose district most of it is grown; Senator Holland on the Senate Agriculture Committee; and Joe Farris, public relations man here for the American Cane Sugar League, a "hard-working Florida" man who got his newspaper start in Orlando when his father had the Orlando Sentinel.

IT'S UP TO YOU

By Howard E. Kerchner, L.H.D.

In commenting on the excellent work being done by the Children's Emergency Fund and the United Nations, a Christian leader inquired:

"How anyone in the world can be negative toward the most generous of national agencies is beyond me. A quantity of hospital linens were mended and surgical instruments were prepared for the sterilizer."

The president, Mrs. Herbert Beck, presided over the business session. Mrs. Dora McWhorter, chairman, reported that work has been started on the redecoration of the south wing of the hospital. It was voted to buy 12 miniature Christmas trees to decorate the hospital rooms at Christmas.

Plans were made for the December meeting, when election and installation of new officers will take place. Mrs. E. D. Humphries, Mrs. J. L. Murphy, and Mrs. Fred Simmons were appointed to serve on the nominating committee. Mrs. Clara Gledhill will serve as installing officer. Mrs. L. L. Price served cake and iced tea to the members of the auxiliary, 13 of whom were present.

EARTAGGING UNIFORMITY PLANNED

A nationwide, uniform plan for identifying dairy and beef cattle with only one cartag for each animal is being pioneered by the U. S. Department of Agriculture.

This new system provides a combination of letters and numbers sufficient to tag more than eight billion cattle in the United States and territories without a single duplication. Thus many different groups may use the identification number provided by the first tagging of an animal without danger of finding later that several cattle had this same number.

The most important feature of the new system is a single "M" record of number assignments kept in each state. Official agencies and groups continue to buy identification tags where they choose, but they first obtain a block assignment of numbers from the federal or state official keeping the book within their state.

Designating central offices for this purpose will be one of the first acts necessary in implementing the uniform tagging plan. Agencies or groups reserving a large block of numbers from the central state official will then be responsible for making and recording assignments of sequences of these numbers to their various members.

The new plan has these major advantages: (1) no duplication of identification numbers; (2) only one tag per animal; (3) no additional cost to individuals or groups. Central booking offices are established at state initiative, the USDA anticipates that the new system for uniform numbering will be quickly and widely adopted.

At the United States Military Academy at West Point there is a monument in memory of Major Dade and his command. Monuments are also to be found where they fell in Dade Battlefield State Park near Bushnell.

TOMATO LIMIT RECOMMENDED

The Florida tomato committee has recommended to the Secretary of Agriculture that a regulation be issued which would limit shipments of Florida tomatoes to those which meet the requirements of the U. S. No. 2 regulation, which is limited to tomatoes grown in Florida, south or east of the Suwannee River, would be in effect from December 1955 to May 31, 1956.

The 15-member Florida tomato committee made its initial recommendation for regulation at its organizational meeting held at Clewiston Oct. 26, Federal Marketing Order No. 45, issued by the Secretary of Agriculture on Oct. 4, provides for establishment of the committee and authorizes regulation such as the type proposed.

Movement of tomatoes to registered packing houses within the production area for grading, to all state-operated auction markets, and to the Sumter County Farmers Market at Webster would be exempt from the regulatory provisions of the marketing order. Also, shipments to canning plants and for relief or charity would be exempt from grade and inspection requirements, but handle a r would be required to obtain approval from the committee prior to making such shipments.

Handlers may contact the committee's office at 4401 E. Colonial Dr., telephone 3-2558, Orlando, for answers to questions regarding the proposed regulation, USDA said.

At the United States Military Academy at West Point there is a monument in memory of Major Dade and his command. Monuments are also to be found where they fell in Dade Battlefield State Park near Bushnell.

ANIMAL DISEASES AND YOU

In the Mosaic Law centuries ago there was reference to the recognition of relationship between certain animal and human diseases. It was not until the 18th century that Jenner proved the relationship of cowpox with smallpox.

Late in the last century it was shown that tuberculosis in cattle and in human beings is one disease. The records show now that the same holds true for anthrax and rabies in man and animals. These important verifications have led to research on animal diseases with the hope of solving problems related to human diseases.

Prevention of animal diseases obviously should afford protection to humans against diseases communicable to man. There is a present list of 115 diseases that may be transmitted from animals to man. Most of these are innately animal diseases. Veterinary medicine has made noteworthy contribution to preventive medicine, chiefly in developing methods of control, prevention and eradication of communicable diseases in animals. Outstanding examples are anthrax, brucellosis, foot-and-mouth disease, glanders, hookworm infection, ornithosis and psittacosis (virus disease of birds), rabies, trichinellosis (a virus disease of horses). The control and prevention of animal diseases involves the detection and isolation or elimination of carriers of disease.

The vaccination of animals is another method of prevention of spread of diseases from animal to man. Your veterinarian should be consulted in order to ascertain whether or not your pets have been protected by proper inoculations. By so doing you are not only helping to prevent disease among your animal pets, but among members of your family as well.

GLADES JEWISH COMMUNITY CENTER

Let us come before His presence with thanksgiving, let us praise for joy unto Him with psalms. For the Lord is a great God, and a great King above all gods; in whose hands are the depths of the earth; the heights of the mountains are His also. The sea is His. He made it; His hands formed the dry land. O God, let us bow down and bend the knee; let us kneel before our Lord our Maker; for he is our God, and we are the people of His pasture, and the flock of His hand.

Thou shalt love the Lord, thy God, with thy mind, and with all thy heart, and with all thy soul. In truth, the Lord of the universe is our redeemer. Only God does my soul wait in stillness; and from Him comes my hope. He alone is my rock and my salvation.

Let us praise God with this symbol of joy, and thank Him for the blessing of the past year, for life and strength, for home and love and friendship, for the discipline of our trials and temptations, for the peace that has come to us out of our labors.

Happy are they who are upright in their way, who walk in the law of the Lord. Happy are they that keep his testimonies, that seek Him with a whole heart.

DRITHANE FUNGICIDES

for tomato disease control the way you want it

A choice of three Drithane fungicides now enables you to get maximum protection against tomato disease . . . and to do it with the DRITHANE that's best for your growing conditions and methods of application.

Whatever your choice, you can be sure of controlling all the major tomato diseases—late blight, gray leaf spot, early blight, Septoria leaf spot, anthracnose, and gray mold. What's more, all DRITHANE fungicides give high rating protection against these diseases at reasonable cost.

Follow a regular spray schedule with the DRITHANE fungicide you prefer, and see for yourself that tomato plants stay free of disease even under the worst blight conditions. In addition, the vines maintain a healthy, vigorous growth all season, and the yields improve in quantity and quality. You will also find that DRITHANE, when used according to directions, is safe for fruit and foliage, harmless to equipment, and easy to mix.

Choose the DRITHANE fungicide that you prefer from this list: DRITHANE M-22 (maneb)—packed in 3 pound and 4½ pound bags for easy-to-calculate mixing in all standard sprayers.

DRITHANE is a trade-mark, Reg. U.S. Pat. Off. and in principal foreign countries.

These two sizes eliminate waste from spillage, and help you make certain the spray solution is exactly the right strength. DRITHANE M-22 is particularly helpful in giving tomato plants a luxuriant, green appearance.

DRITHANE Z-78 (zinab)—time proved general purpose fungicide. Recognized today as the standard fungicide material. DRITHANE D-14 (nabam)—for economical preparation of maneb or zinab.
